Building the Future

Student Code of Conduct 2024-2027

Equity and Excellence: realising the potential of every student

Equity and Excellence outlines the government's vision for a progressive, high-performing education system. Equity and Excellence provides clarity for schools about priorities and expectations, with differentiated support targeted to each school's context and needs.

Queensland Department of Education

Purpose

Centenary State High School is committed to providing a safe, respectful and disciplined learning environment for all students, staff, parents and visitors. We are a school with a deliberate focus on Positive Education and utilising our character strengths to learn, grow and contribute to our school community.

The Centenary State High School Student Code of Conduct sets out the responsibilities and processes we use in our school to promote a productive, effective whole school approach to discipline.

Its purpose is to facilitate high standards of behaviour from all in the school community, ensuring learning and teaching in our school is prioritised, where all students are able to experience success and staff enjoy a safe workplace.

Principal's Foreword

Introduction

Centenary State High School vision of "Quality Learning, Quality Futures" informs our way of working on a daily basis. Our agreed moral purpose is "To foster positive relationships so that all learners can flourish and feel a sense of belonging". Belonging is essential to flourishing as individuals, as learners and as members of our school and wider community.

We are a Positive Education school. We believe that student behaviour is education based and that appropriate behaviour is taught and learned through daily interactions at school – via the Home Group (HG) program, via the Positive Education Enhanced Curriculum (PEEC) experienced weekly, through our teaching and understanding of the Not Negotiables for Centenary SHS and actioned through our understanding of and building of our individual character strengths.

Centenary State High School has three core values:

Aspiration

We strive to improve ourselves as learners and citizens, to make strong contributions to our present and future communities. We view education as critical to this growth and leverage our character strengths to shape our future.

Commitment

We recognise that growth and success is dependent upon commitment. As a community we commit to our learners, our learners commit to their learning. We do not waver in our efforts and we draw on our character strengths when faced with challenges.

Community

Every student has a place in our diverse school community. We all belong and we build this belonging by being kind, respecting self and others and recognising that by working collaboratively we positively contribute to the school and the community.

The Student Code of Conduct outlines the school education, supports and strategies with respect to how we work, learn and play. It clearly articulates the roles and responsibilities of individuals within our school community.

Our Student Code of Conduct provides an overview of the school's policies on the use of mobile telephones, wearable devices, technology, possession of items which are considered unsafe, removal of student property and addressing and supporting incidents of bullying. It details the consequences that may apply when students breach the expected standards of behaviour, including the use of School Disciplinary Absences (SDA).

Learning and Behaviour Statement

Centenary State High School is a Positive Education school. Our Student Code of Conduct is underpinned by our moral purpose and the Positive Education activities that exist in all areas of the school, and at all year levels of the school.

Everyone brings their own set of personal beliefs to a school community. These beliefs influence their decisions, behaviour and social practices. It is reasonable to expect that not everyone will share the same sets of beliefs, and this contributes to a richly diverse social environment for each school.

Our expectations of student conduct are grounded in the primacy of facilitating a safe, supportive and inclusive learning environment where all students can flourish. We have an unrelenting focus on uninterrupted teaching and learning in the classroom and a harmonious and safe of out of class environment where the rights and responsibilities of all members of our school community are supported.

Student Wellbeing and Support Network

Our Centenary State High School Wellbeing Framework will be launched at the commencement of the 2024 school year.

Wellbeing at CSHS is underpinned by the principles of positive education which is supported by the evidence-based science of positive psychology. Positive Education is an approach that is shaped by the research from Positive Psychology and teaches our young people the skills they need to manage their mental health and wellbeing.

Our wellbeing vision is inspired by the QLD Department Learning and Wellbeing Framework as we strive to: “provide inclusive environments that nurture the wellbeing of all students so they become resilient lifelong learners who respond positively to their changing world and pursue their passions with confidence”.

We believe wellbeing of the whole child is important and that higher levels of wellbeing tend to have better academic outcomes at school.

We want every individual to realise their own potential and be able to make a contribution to his or her community in school and beyond.

Student support is provided both within the curriculum as well as through our strong support service provision. This includes:

- Assemblies – whole school and year level – connection with Year Level Co-ordinator, HG Teachers and School Leaders
- Home Group (HG) meetings each morning – connection with HG teacher
- Positive Education lessons, provided once per week – connection with HG teacher
- Support of classroom teachers and Heads of Departments – curriculum connection
- Support of First Nations Teacher Aide
- Support from the Year Level Co-ordinators
- Support from the Head of Department Positive Education
- Support from Inclusive Learning Advocates
- Specialist support from the Year Level Deputy Principals
- Classroom teaching & curriculum – with a focus on the General Capabilities in the Australian Curriculum and the 21st Century skills in the Senior QCE Curriculum.
- Specialist support through our Connections team with the provision of support by:
 - Guidance Officers
 - School Psychologist
 - School Chaplain & Youth Worker (3 days/week)
 - School Based Youth Health Nurse Support (2 days/week)
 - Happiness Hound – Betty Centenary

- Opportunities for student connection, student voice and peer support are provided by the Centenary SHS Forum and by the School Leaders – Captains and Vice-Captains, Arts Leaders, Sports Leaders, First Nations Leaders, International Leaders, STEM Leaders, Debating Leaders as well as by the Year 10 Peer Mentors.
- STYMIE supports the provision of an online anonymous reporting system to give a voice to members of the community who have a concern for the wellbeing and safety of a student. STYMIE is used where a student feels they cannot raise the issue face-to-face with one of our existing supports. It gives a voice to bystanders who may not be able to speak up.

- We expect our students to: BE RESPONSIBLE, BE RESPECTFUL, BE A LEARNER

Whole School Approach to Discipline

At Centenary SHS we believe in a holistic approach to the support of positive student behaviour. This involves comprehensive behaviour and wellbeing support systems across the school for all students.

Through our comprehensive support systems we ensure that we incorporate explicit and differentiated teaching to meet the needs of individual students.

We believe that all members of the Centenary SHS community will:

- Be able to enjoy a safe and supportive environment, free from fear, harassment or bullying in any form
- Show respect for self, others and the environment
- Support practices which enable equality of opportunity and participation in all spheres of learning and working
- Follow practices which promote a positive attitude to health and safety
- Have rights and responsibilities as partners in education
- Follow practices which demonstrate respect for the laws and regulations of our society
- Be required to comply with all school based policies and procedures with respect to discipline

In line with the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers – Standard 4, our teachers:

- Establish and implement inclusive and positive interactions to engage and support all students in classroom activities
- Establish and maintain orderly and workable routines to create an environment where student time is spent on learning tasks
- Manage challenging behaviour by establishing and negotiating clear expectations with students and address discipline issues promptly, fairly and respectfully.
- Ensure students' wellbeing and safety within the school by implementing the school curriculum, school policies and legislative requirements
- Incorporate strategies to promote the safe, responsible and ethical use of ICT in learning and teaching.

We consider our parent community to be partners in education. We provide two scheduled opportunities to meet formally, face-to-face via our Parent Teacher Interviews. We encourage our parents to establish open lines of communications with the teachers and the school outside of these times – via email or phone. We encourage parents to ensure the ease of this communication by providing up to date contact details.

Consideration of Individual Circumstances

Staff at Centenary State High School take into account students' individual circumstances, such as their behaviour history, disability, mental health and wellbeing, religious and cultural considerations, home environment and care arrangements when teaching expectations, responding to inappropriate behaviour or applying a disciplinary consequence.

In considering the individual circumstances of each student, we recognise that the way we teach, the support we provide and the way we respond to students will differ. This reflects the principle of equity, where every student is given the support they need to be successful. This also means that not everyone will be treated the same, because treating everyone the same is not fair. For example, some students need additional support to interpret or understand an expectation. Others may benefit from more opportunities to practise a required skill or behaviour. For a small number of students, the use of certain disciplinary consequences may be considered inappropriate or ineffective due to complex trauma or family circumstances. These are all matters that our teachers and principal consider with each individual student in both the instruction of behaviour and the response to behaviour.

Our teachers are also obliged by law to respect and protect the privacy of individual students, so while we understand the interest of other students, staff and parents to know what consequence another student might have received, we will not disclose or discuss this information with anyone but the student's family. This applies even if the behavioural incident, such as bullying, involves your child. You can be assured that school staff take all matters, such as bullying, very seriously and will address them appropriately.

We expect that parents and students will respect the privacy of other students and families. If you have concerns about the behaviour of another student at the school, or the way our staff have responded to their behaviour, please make an appointment with the year level deputy principal or principal to discuss the matter.

Differentiated and Explicit Teaching

Centenary State High School is a disciplined school environment that provides differentiated teaching to respond to the learning needs of all students. This involves teaching expected behaviours and providing opportunities for students to practise these behaviours. Teachers reinforce expected behaviours, provide feedback and correction, and opportunities for practise.

Teachers at Centenary SHS vary what students are taught, how they are taught and how students can demonstrate what they know as part of this differentiated approach to behaviour. These decisions about differentiation are made in response to data and day-to-day monitoring that indicates the behavioural learning needs of students. This enables our teachers to purposefully plan a variety of ways to engage students; assist them to achieve the expected learning; and to demonstrate their learning.

There are three main layers to differentiation, as illustrated in the diagram below. This model is the same used for academic and pedagogical differentiation.

Individual needs or circumstances of students are addressed through reasonable adjustments to teaching, curriculum and assessment. The implementation of reasonable adjustments applies to both curriculum and behaviour needs. Our teachers use the Essential Skills of Classroom Management (ESCM) to focus on productive learning environments on a daily basis.

These ESCMs are:

- Establishing expectations
- Giving instructions
- Waiting and scanning
- Cueing with parallel acknowledgement
- Body language encouraging
- Descriptive encouraging
- Selective attending
- Redirecting to the learning
- Giving a choice
- Following through

Where a behaviour strategy or consequence is required, teachers employ strategies which may include:

- Parental contact in a positive approach – we are partners in learning and supporting behaviour is a shared approach.
- Issuing consequences for inappropriate behaviour – which may include detention, direction to buddy classes. More escalated behaviours are referred for consideration by Heads of Departments (curriculum-based issues) or Deputy Principal/Principal.
- Recording details of the concern and consequence through Oneschool record keeping
- Monitoring of student attendance and case management of attendance – aligned to supports from Year Level Co-ordinator, Deputy Principal

Focused Teaching

Approximately 15% of all students in any school or classroom may require additional support to meet behaviour expectations, even after being provided with differentiated and explicit teaching. These students may have difficulty meeting behavioural expectations in a particular period of the day or as part of a learning area/subject, and focused teaching is provided to help them achieve success.

Focused teaching involves revisiting key behavioural concepts and/or skills and using explicit and structured teaching strategies in particular aspects of a behaviour skill. Focused teaching provides students with more opportunities to practise skills and multiple opportunities to achieve the intended learning and expected behaviour.

Support staff, including teachers with specialist expertise in learning, language or development, Deputy Principal Inclusion or the Connections Team work collaboratively with class teachers at Centenary State High School to provide focused teaching.

Centenary SHS has a range of Student Support Network staff in place to help arrange and deliver focused teaching to students who need more support to meet expectations. In addition, the school prepares, as required Student Growth Card (character strength focussed student led monitoring), Individual Support Plans, Individual Safety Plans, and Discipline Improvement Plans.

At the focussed stage, where a behaviour strategy or consequence is required, staff employ strategies which may include:

- Referrals to Heads of Departments, Connections Team, Deputy Principal Inclusion
- Intervention programs (internal or external) and external agency referrals
- Consideration of flexible learning arrangements
- School Disciplinary Absences

Intensive Teaching

Research evidence shows that even in an effective, well-functioning school there will always be approximately 5% of the student population who require intensive teaching to achieve behavioural expectations. Intensive teaching involves frequent and explicit instruction, with individuals or in small groups, to develop mastery of basic behavioural concepts, skills and knowledge.

Some students may require intensive teaching for a short period, for particular behaviour skills. Other students may require intensive teaching for a more prolonged period. Decisions about the approach will be made based on data collected from their teacher or teachers, and following consultation with the student's family.

For a small number of students who continue to display behaviours that are deemed complex and challenging, then individualised, function-based behaviour assessment and support plans and multi-agency collaboration may be provided to support the student. This approach will seek to address the acute impact of barriers to learning and participation faced by students who are negotiating a number of complex personal issues.

Students who require intensive teaching will be assigned a case manager at the school who will oversee the coordination of their support, communicate with stakeholders and directly consult with the student. This support includes, but is not limited to the following options:

- Developing an Individual Support Plan – articulating strengths, interests, approaches for positive results
- Communicating of agreed behaviour support strategies to all teachers to ensure continuity and consistency of expectation and response
- Engaging and working in a stakeholder approach – with parents, staff and external agencies
- Provision of ongoing student monitoring
- Regular contact with parents/carers via the Case Manager (Deputy Principal) to maximise opportunities for positive behaviours

At the intensive stage, where a behaviour strategy or consequence is required, staff employ strategies which may include:

- Intervention by Deputy Principal or Principal
- Referral to external agencies
- School Disciplinary Absences (including Long Suspensions 10-20 days, Recommendations for Exclusion, Exclusion)

Delegations

Under the Education (General Provisions) Act 2006, state school principals are responsible for “controlling and regulating student discipline in the school”.

Principals are afforded a number of non-delegable powers to assist them to meet this obligation, including the authority to suspend, exclude or cancel the enrolment of a student at the school. These decision-making responsibilities cannot be delegated to other staff in the school, such as deputy principals, however the communication of these decisions can be made by the deputy principals.

The details of these responsibilities are outlined in the legislative instruments of delegation and instruments of authorisation provided below:

- Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 Director-General’s delegations
- Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 Minister’s delegations
- Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 Director-General’s authorisations
- Education (General Provisions) Regulation 2006 Minister’s delegations

Disciplinary Consequences

In developing this Student Code of Conduct, Centenary State High School has categorised inappropriate student behaviour into two levels (minor and major) according to the gravity of the behaviour. This provides a clearly defined process to be undertaken by the most appropriate staff member and students experience suitable consequences. Our school seeks to ensure that responses to unacceptable behaviour are consistent and proportionate to the nature of the behaviour. The behaviour referral processes in the school were developed through consultation with the staff and stakeholder groups.

When responding to problem behaviour the staff member first determines if the problem behaviour is major or minor, with the following agreed understanding:

Minor problem behaviour is handled by staff members at the time it happens and if this behaviour persists, the student will be referred to the Head of Department. The staff member will work with the Head of Department to correct the student behaviour.

Major problem behaviour is referred directly to the school Administration team.

Minor behaviours

Minor behaviours are those that:

- Are minor breaches of the school rules
- Are minor disruptions to the teaching and learning in a classroom, impacting the ability of the teacher to teach and other students to learn
- Do not seriously harm others or cause concern that the student may be harmed
- Do not violate the rights of others in any other serious way
- Are not part of a pattern of problem behaviours
- Do not require involvement of specialist support staff or Administration

Minor problem behaviours may result in the following consequences:

A minor consequence logically connected to the problem behaviour, such as:

- complete removal from an activity or event for a specified period of time,
- partial removal (time away),
- impacting Good Standing (at review junctures) for repeated minor behaviours,
- individual meeting with the student to address behaviours,
- apology and/or restitution,
- detention for work completion.

Minor behaviours involve a re-direction procedure. The staff member takes the student aside at an appropriate time and, employing the Essential Skills for Classroom Management (ESCM):

- Names the behaviour that the student is displaying
- Asks student to name expected school behaviour
- States and explains expected school behaviour if necessary
- Gives positive verbal acknowledgement for expected school behaviour

Major behaviours

Major behaviours are those that:

- Significantly violate the rights of others
- Show repeated disregard for school policies, property or routines
- Put others/self at risk of harm
- Require the involvement of school Administration

Major behaviours result in an immediate referral to Administration because of their seriousness. When major problem behaviour occurs, staff members calmly state the major problem behaviour and remind the student of expected school behaviour. The staff member then makes contact with Administration.

There may be occasions when one-off behaviour is of such a serious nature that a recommendation for cancellation of enrolment or immediate recommendation for exclusion may be made by the principal.

Such behaviour may include but will not be limited to:

- The possession, use or supply of prohibited and/or illegal substances and materials
- The possession, brandishing or use of a weapon/item used as a weapon
- The distribution or sale of items prohibited at school/illegal substances/weapons
- Violent or dangerous behaviour directed towards self and others
- Vilification on the basis of race, sex, religion, gender identity and/or sexual orientation
- The instigation of, and/or participation in potentially violent situations within the wider school community
- The deliberate use of digital media through the school network for downloading, distributing or viewing of inappropriate and unacceptable material for the school context
- The deliberate and malicious use of digital media for harassment, denigration, trickery, exclusion, cyber-stalking, cyber-bullying by proxy or other activities designed to breach a person's privacy
- The use of personal devices and other electronic equipment to download, distribute or view inappropriate and unacceptable material for a school context
- The deliberate and malicious use of social media carriage services to engage in behaviours and actions that are inappropriate and unacceptable within the wider school community

It should be noted that the above breaches of the Student Code of Conduct need not happen during school hours as long as the student/s can be identified as a member of the Centenary State High School community and their conduct:

- Adversely affects, or is likely to adversely affect, students enrolled at the school, or;
- Brings the school's name into disrepute

One School is used to record all unacceptable minor and major behaviours that require a consequence.

The Behaviour Consequences Matrix below, gives an indication of the possible consequences issued for various types of behaviour infringements. Please note that this is not an exhaustive list of consequences, nor is it presented in a sequential manner. Consideration of individual needs is a feature when applying consequences.

Behaviour Consequences Matrix

School Disciplinary Absences

A School Disciplinary Absence (SDA) is an enforced period of absence from attending a Queensland state school, applied by the principal as a consequence to address poor student behaviour. There are four types of SDA:

- Short suspension (1 to 10 school days)
- Long suspension (11 to 20 school days)
- Charge-related suspension
- Exclusion (period of not more than one year or permanently).

At Centenary State High School, the use of any SDA is considered a very serious decision. It is typically only used by the principal when other options have been exhausted or the student's behaviour is so dangerous that continued attendance at the school is considered a risk to the safety or wellbeing of the school community.

Parents and students may appeal a long suspension, charge-related suspension or exclusion decision. A review will be conducted by the Director-General or their delegate, and a decision made within 40 school days to confirm, amend/vary or set aside the original SDA decision by the principal.

The appeal process is a thorough review of all documentation associated with the SDA decision and provides an opportunity for both the school and the family to present their case in the matter. Time is afforded for collection, dissemination and response to the materials by both the school and the family. It is important that the purpose of the appeal is understood so that expectations are clear, and appropriate supports are in place to ensure students can continue to access their education while completing their SDA.

Re-entry following suspension

Students who are suspended from Centenary SHS may be invited to attend a re-entry meeting on the day of their scheduled return to school. The main purpose of this meeting is to welcome the student, with their parent/s, back to the school. It is not a time to review the student's behaviour or the decision to suspend, the student has already received a punishment through their disciplinary absence from school. The aim of the re-entry meeting is for school staff to set the student up for future success and strengthen home-school communication.

It is not mandatory for the student or their parents to attend a re-entry meeting. It may be offered as a support for the student to assist in their successful re-engagement in school following suspension.

Arrangements

The invitation to attend the re-entry meeting will be communicated via telephone and in writing via the suspension letters. Re-entry meetings are short, taking less than 10 minutes, and kept small with only the principal or their delegate (Deputy Principal) attending with the student and their parent/s.

A record of the meeting is saved in OneSchool, under the Contact tab, including any notes or discussions occurring during the meeting.

Structure

The structure of the re-meeting should follow a set agenda, shared in advance with the student and their family. If additional items are raised for discussion, a separate arrangement should be made to meet with the parent/s at a later date and time. This meeting should be narrowly focussed on making the student and their family feel welcome back into the school community.

Possible agenda:

- Welcome back to school
- Check in on student wellbeing
- Discuss any recent changes to school routine or staffing
- Offer information about supports available (e.g., guidance officer support, Growth Card, daily check-ins)
- Set a date for follow-up
- Thank student and parent/s for attending
- Walk with student to classroom

Reasonable adjustments

In planning the re-entry meeting, school staff will consider reasonable adjustments needed to support the attendance and engagement of the student. This includes selecting an appropriate and accessible meeting space, organising translation or interpretation services or supports (e.g., AUSLAN), provision of written and/or pictorial information and other relevant accommodations. The inclusion of support staff, such as guidance officers or Community Education Counsellors, may also offer important advice to ensure a successful outcome to the re-entry meeting.

School Policies

Centenary State High School has tailored school discipline policies designed to ensure students, staff and visitors work cooperatively to create and maintain a supportive and safe learning environment. Please ensure that you familiarise yourself with the responsibilities for students, staff and visitors outlined in the following policies:

- Temporary removal of student property
- Mobile telephone and wearable device policy – Away for the Day
- Preventing and responding to bullying
- Appropriate use of social media

Temporary removal of student property

The removal of any property in a student's possession may be necessary to promote the caring, safe and supportive learning environment of the school, to maintain and foster mutual respect between all state school staff, students and visitors. The Temporary removal of student property by school staff procedure outlines the processes, conditions and responsibilities for state school principals and school staff when temporarily removing student property.

In determining what constitutes a reasonable time to retain student property, the principal or state school staff will consider:

- the condition, nature or value of the property
- the circumstances in which the property was removed
- the safety of the student from whom the property was removed, other students or staff members
- good management, administration and control of the school.

The principal or state school staff determine when the temporarily removed student property can be returned, unless the property has been handed to the Queensland Police Service.

The following items are explicitly prohibited at Centenary State High School and will be removed if found in a student's possession:

- illegal items or weapons (e.g., guns, knives*, throwing stars, brass knuckles, chains, items intended to be used as weapons)
- mobile telephones and wearable devices used/seen on school property
- imitation guns or weapons
- potentially dangerous items (e.g., blades, rope)
- drugs (including tobacco, e-cigarettes, vapes)
- alcohol
- aerosol deodorants or cans (including spray paint)
- explosives (e.g., fireworks, flares, sparklers)
- flammable solids or liquids (e.g., fire starters, mothballs, lighters)
- poisons (e.g., weed killer, insecticides)
- inappropriate or offensive material (e.g., racist literature, pornography, extremist propaganda).

 No knives of any type are allowed at school, including flick knives, ballistic knives, sheath knives, push daggers, trench knives, butterfly knives, star knives, butter knives, fruit knives or craft knives, or any item that can be used as a weapon, for example a chisel.*

Knives needed for school activities will be provided by the school, and the use of them will be supervised by school staff. In circumstances where students are required to have their own knives or sharp tools for particular subjects or vocational courses, the school will provide information about the procedures for carrying and storing these items at school.

Mobile telephones and wearable devices, in accordance with Government policy must be "Away for the Day" as per the Centenary SHS policy. Mobile telephones must be stored in accordance with school policy once the student enters school grounds and must remain stored and not used for the duration of the school day and until the student exits school grounds. See further information in the school policy.*

* The administration of medications to students by school staff is only considered when a prescribing health practitioner has determined that it is necessary or when there is no other alternative in relation to the treatment of a specific health need. Schools require medical authorisation to administer any medication to students (including over-the-counter medications such as paracetamol or alternative medicines).*

Responsibilities

School staff at Centenary State High School:

- do not require the student's consent to search school property such as lockers, desks or laptops that are supplied to the student through the school;
- may seize a student's bag where there is suspicion that the student has a dangerous item (for example, a knife) in their school bag, prior to seeking consent to search from a parent or calling the police;
- consent from the student or parent is required to examine or otherwise deal with the temporarily removed student property. There may, however, be emergency circumstances where it is necessary to search a student's property without the student's consent or the consent of the student's parents (e.g., to access an EpiPen for an anaphylactic emergency);
- consent from the student or parent is required to search the person of a student (e.g., pockets or shoes). If consent is not provided and a search is considered necessary, the police and the student's parents should be called to make such a determination.

Parents of students at Centenary State High School:

- ensure your children do not bring property onto schools' grounds or other settings used by the school (e.g., camp, sporting venues) that:
 - is prohibited according to the Centenary SHS Student Code of Conduct
 - is illegal
 - puts the safety or wellbeing of others at risk
 - does not preserve a caring, safe, supportive or productive learning environment
 - does not maintain and foster mutual respect;
- collect temporarily removed student property as soon as possible after they have been notified by the principal or state school staff that the property is available for collection.

Students of Centenary SHS:

- do not bring property onto school grounds or other settings used by the school (e.g., camp, sporting venues) that:
 - is prohibited according to the Centenary SHS Student Code of Conduct
 - is illegal
 - puts the safety or wellbeing of others at risk
 - does not preserve a caring, safe, supportive or productive learning environment
 - does not maintain and foster mutual respect;
- collect their property as soon as possible when advised by the principal or state school staff it is available for collection.

Use of mobile phones and other devices by students

Centenary SHS operates a BYOD (Bring Your Own Device) program to facilitate ICT use in classroom learning. Parents and students are required to sign the appropriate ICT agreements regarding the responsible use of these devices and school ICT infrastructure. Permissions for access to websites and online learning platforms utilised at school are also required. The school provides advice regarding the type of suitable device and the minimum specifications of this device to maximise functionality across the school network.

It is the responsibility of each student to ensure that they arrive at school with a device that is fully charged and ready for use in classroom learning. The school has capacity to provide a limited number of short-term loans when a student's BYOD is temporarily unable to be used eg. while under repair. Families who are experiencing short term difficulty regarding a BYOD are encouraged to contact the school to speak to appropriate staff.

Centenary SHS is a mobile telephone and wearable device free school. From the beginning of Term 1, 2024 all Queensland state school students must keep their mobile phones switched off and "away for the day" during school hours. Notifications on wearable devices, such as smartwatches, must be switched off so that phone calls, messages and other notifications cannot be sent or received during school hours. All headphones required for learning at school are those suitable for wired connection to a school approved BYOD learning device.

Centenary SHS, like a number of other secondary schools, is implementing a device pouch for the 2024 school year as part of the Mobile Phone and Wearable Device Policy. Students will be provided with a mobile phone pouch as part of their school requirements.

The intent of the policy is to establish and maintain an interruption-free focus on educational achievement, and a healthy approach to student wellbeing and engagement by:

- providing optimal learning and teaching environments
- encouraging increased face-to-face social interactions between students
- promoting the health and wellbeing of students through increased social interactions and physical activity
- reducing the potential for students to be exposed to the negative impacts of the digital world, resulting from unsafe or inappropriate technology and social media use.

This policy applies to mobile phones and hand-held or wearable electronic devices. This includes bluetooth devices, airpods/headphones, smart watches, personal gaming stations, and hand-held devices that do not meet the requirements of the school approved BYOD learning equipment.

The Centenary SHS Mobile Phone and Wearable Device Policy can be found on the school website at www.centenaryshs.eq.edu.au

As part of our commitment to wellbeing curriculum and to provide avenues for digital literacies, the school provides opportunities for students to become involved in eSports, Girls Gaming, Virtual Reality during break times and after school. Students who wish to engage in these extra-curricular activities are encouraged to speak to the IT staff in the school Resource Centre.

Preventing and responding to bullying

Centenary State High School is a Positive Education school and references the Student Learning and Wellbeing Framework to promote positive relationships and the wellbeing of all students, staff and visitors at the school.

Our staff know student learning is optimised when they feel connected to others and experience safe and trusting relationships. Students who feel secure are more likely to be active participants in their learning and to achieve better physical, emotional, social and educational outcomes. Teachers who feel valued and supported are more likely to engage positively with students and build stronger connections within the school community. Parents who are positively engaged with their child's education leads to improved student self-esteem, attendance and behaviour at school. Enhancing the wellbeing of students and their educators delivers overall long-term social, health and economic benefits to our community.

Centenary SHS has a Student Forum, with diverse representatives from each year level meeting regularly with the school team to promote strategies to improve student wellbeing, safety and learning outcomes. Centenary SHS is committed to providing a safe supportive and inclusive environment. We do this by:

- providing safe environments where diversity is valued, positive social interactions are promoted, and risk of injury or harm is minimised
- developing an approach to wellbeing that supports the collective action of parents, support services and the wider community
- demonstrating and communicating positive respectful relationships between staff, students, parents and members of the community
- explicitly teaching and modelling social and emotional skills, values and expectations for behaviour to support student wellbeing
- making sure the physical environment and school policies and practices are accessible and inclusive of students and families
- planning for opportunities to promote and celebrate the traditions, values and cultures of the school community
- providing learning opportunities and environments that promote healthy lifestyle choices

Bullying

The agreed national definition for Australian schools describes bullying as:

- ongoing and deliberate misuse of power in relationships through repeated verbal, physical and/or social behaviour that intends to cause physical, social and/or psychological harm;
- involving an individual or a group misusing their power, or perceived power, over one or more persons who feel unable to stop it from happening;
- happening in person or online, via various digital platforms and devices and it can be obvious (overt) or hidden (covert). Bullying behaviour is repeated, or has the potential to be repeated, over time (for example, through sharing of digital records);
- having immediate, medium and long-term effects on those involved, including bystanders. Single incidents and conflict or fights between equals, whether in person or online, are not defined as bullying.

Behaviours that do not constitute bullying include:

- mutual arguments and disagreements (where there is no power imbalance)
- not liking someone or a single act of social rejection
- one-off acts of meanness or spite
- isolated incidents of aggression, intimidation or violence.

However, these conflicts are still considered serious and need to be addressed and resolved. At Centenary SHS our staff will work to quickly respond to any matters raised of this nature in collaboration with students and parents.

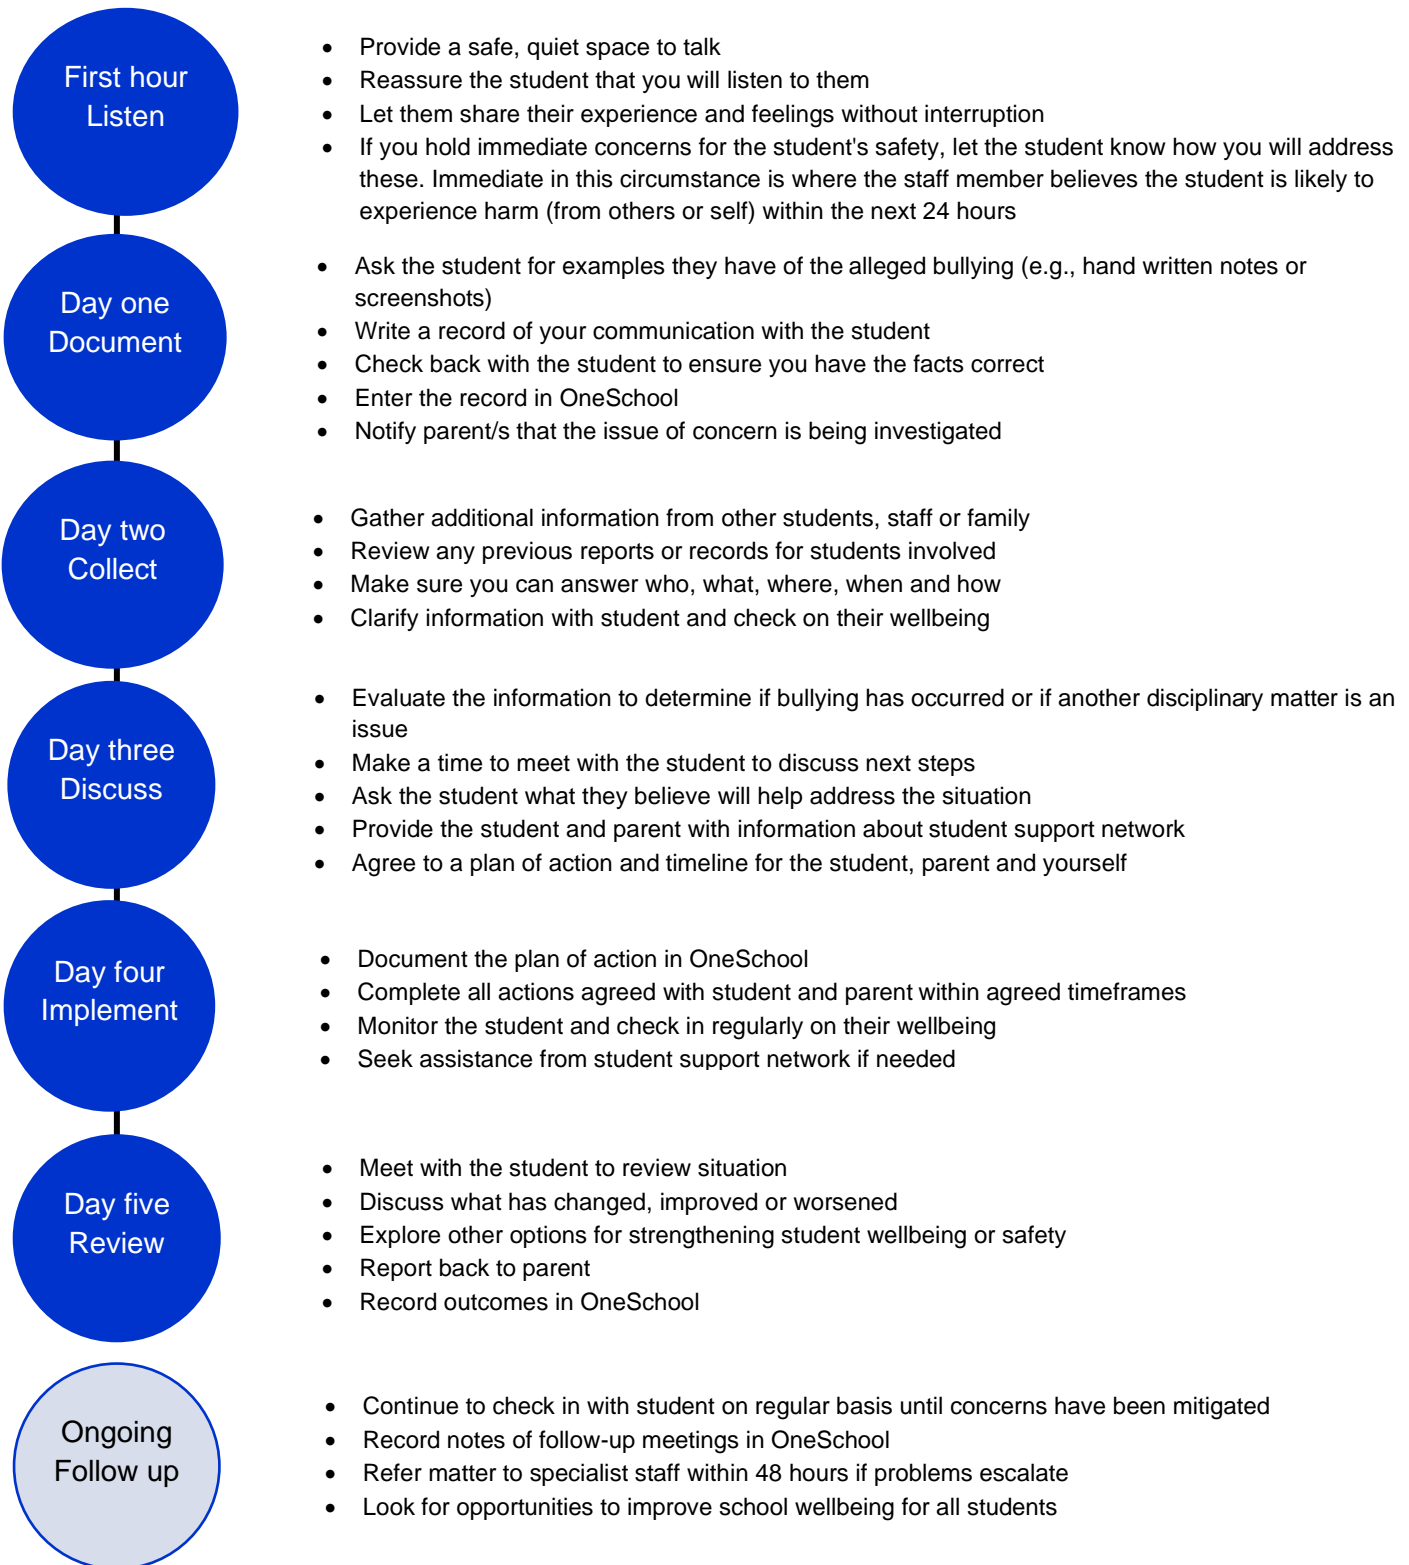

The following flowchart explains the actions Centenary SHS teachers will take when they receive a report about student bullying, including bullying which may have occurred online or outside of the school setting. Please note that the indicative timeframes will vary depending on the professional judgment of teachers who receive the bullying complaint and their assessment of immediate risk to student/s.

Appropriate use of social media

Centenary SHS acknowledges the growing popularity of social media as a communication tool among our young people. We also acknowledge the potential for damage to be caused (either directly or indirectly) to students, families and staff through the inappropriate use of social media. Students must understand they are responsible for the content they publish on social media platforms so it is important they understand what is expected of them while using social media. Our Mobile Phone and Wearable Device Policy clearly articulates our processes to support “Away for the Day” – accessing devices at school.

This section of the Student Code of Conduct details how the school will respond in circumstances when student behaviour regarding social media and online interactions and actions is inappropriate/illegal.

We consider that everyone has a role to play in keeping our young people safe online.

Centenary SHS embraces the opportunities that technology and the internet provide to students for learning, being creative and socialising online. Use of online communication and social media sites and apps can provide positive social development experiences through an opportunity to develop friendships and shape identities. When used safely and out of school hours, social media sites and apps can provide positive opportunities for social learning and development. However, inappropriate or misguided use can lead to negative outcomes for the user and others.

Centenary SHS is committed to promoting the responsible and positive use of social media sites and apps. No student of our school will face disciplinary action for simply having a social media account.

As detailed in our Student Code of Conduct, it is unacceptable for students to bully, harass or victimise another person whether within our school grounds or while online. Inappropriate online behaviours can have a negative impact on student learning and the good order and management of Centenary SHS – whether those behaviours occur during or outside school hours.

This policy reflects the importance of students at Centenary SHS engaging in appropriate online behaviour.

Role of social media

The majority of young people use social media sites and apps on a daily basis. Unfortunately, some young people misuse social media technologies and engage in cyberbullying.

- Social media by its nature will result in the disclosure and sharing of personal information. By signing up for a social media account, users are providing their personal information.
- Students need to remember that the internet is a free space and many social media sites and apps have limited restrictions placed upon allowable content and regulated procedures for the removal of concerning posts.
- Social media sites and apps are designed to share online content widely and rapidly. Once students place information and/or pictures online, they have little to no control over how that content is used.
- The internet reaches a global audience. Even if students think that comments or photos have been deleted, there can be archived records of the material that will continue to be searchable into the future.
- Inappropriate online behaviour has the potential to embarrass and affect students, others and the school for years to come.

Appropriate use of social media

Students of Centenary SHS who engage with social media are expected to do so appropriately. Specific examples of appropriate use of social media sites and apps include:

- Ensuring that personal information, such as full name, address, phone number, school name and location or anyone else's personal information, is not shared.
- Thinking about what is posted online, and how it could be interpreted – avoid posting content that would be inappropriate to display in a crowded room, or in front of influential people. Once content is posted online, control is lost.
- Avoid provoking or engaging with another user who is displaying inappropriate or abusive behaviour. Rather than responding, address cyberbullying concerns using the online reporting tools, and seek support from an adult.

Responses to social media/online incidents

- If inappropriate online behaviour directly negatively impacts on the good order and management of Centenary SHS, the school may impose disciplinary consequences for that behaviour regardless of whether the behaviour occurs during or outside of school hours. Disciplinary consequences could include suspension and/or exclusion.
- In serious cases of inappropriate online behaviour, the school will make a report to the police for further investigation.
- Centenary SHS will not become involved in concerns of cyberbullying or inappropriate online behaviour where the incident in question does not directly negatively impact upon the good order and management of the school. For example, where cyberbullying occurs between a student of this school and a student of another school outside school hours. Such an incident will be a matter for parents and/or police to resolve.
- Laws and consequences of inappropriate online behaviour and cyberbullying may in certain circumstances constitute a criminal offence. Both the Criminal Code Act 1995 (Cth) and the Criminal Code Act 1899 (Qld) contain relevant provisions prohibiting types of online behaviour.
- The Commonwealth Criminal Code outlines a number of criminal offences concerning telecommunications services.

Potential relevant criminal offences are:

- using a carriage service to make a threat to kill or to cause serious harm to another person
- using a carriage service to menace, harass or cause offence to another person
- using a carriage service for child pornography material or child abuse material
- using a carriage service to promote methods for suicide or counsel another to commit suicide.

- The Queensland Criminal Code contains several applicable sections for cyberbullying. Potential relevant criminal offences are:
 - unlawful stalking
 - computer hacking and misuse
 - possession, distribution and making child exploitation material
 - fraud - obtaining or dealing with identification information
 - criminal defamation.

There are significant penalties for these offences.

Centenary SHS strives to create positive environments for all students at all times of the day, including while online. To help in achieving this goal, Centenary SHS expects its students to engage in positive online behaviours.

Is it appropriate to comment or post about schools, staff or students?

Parental and community feedback is important for schools and the department. If you have a compliment, complaint or enquiry about an issue at school, the best approach is to speak directly to the school about the matter, rather than discussing it in a public forum.

While many schools use social media to update parents of school notices, the department prefers that parents contact schools directly with a compliment, complaint or enquiry due to privacy considerations. Imagine if your doctor, accountant or banking institution tried to contact you to discuss important matters via Facebook.

If you have raised an issue with a school or know that another person has, consider refraining from discussing those details on social media, particularly the names of anyone involved.

Keep comments calm and polite, just as you would over the telephone or by email. If you encounter negative or derogatory content online which involves the school, hinders a child's learning and/or affects the school community at large, contact the school principal.

Possible civil or criminal ramifications of online commentary

A serious instance of inappropriate online behaviour may constitute a criminal offence and become a police matter. For example, online content may substantiate the offence of 'using a carriage service to menace, harass or cause offence' (Criminal Code Act 1995 (Cwth) s. 474.17). School staff may contact their union or obtain personal legal advice if they feel that online content seriously impacts their reputation. Defamatory online content may give rise to litigation under the Defamation Act 2005 (Qld).

How to manage online incidents that impact your school

Student protection

If at any point the principal forms a reasonable suspicion that a student has been harmed or is at risk of harm, they have a responsibility to respond in accordance with the Student protection procedure.

Explicit images

If the investigation involves naked or explicit images of children, staff should not save, copy, forward or otherwise deal with the content, as per the Temporary removal of student property by school staff procedure. This includes onto OneSchool records. Refer to the investigative process outlined in 'Responding to incidents involving naked or explicit images of children' from the Online Incident management guidelines.

Help

Refer to the Online incident management guidelines for more details, or if assistance is required, contact the Cybersafety and Reputation Management (CSRM) team on 3034 5035 or Cybersafety.ReputationManagement@qed.qld.gov.au.

Restrictive Practices

Centenary SHS staff need to respond to student behaviour that presents a risk of physical harm to the student themselves or others. It is anticipated that most instances of risky behaviour can be de-escalated and resolved quickly. On some rarer occasions, a student's behaviour may continue to escalate and staff need to engage immediately with positive and proactive strategies aimed at supporting the student to manage their emotional arousal and behaviour.

In some very rare situations, where there is immediate risk of physical harm to the student or other people, and when all other alternative strategies have failed to reduce the risk, it may be necessary for staff to use restrictive practices.

The use of restrictive practices will always be as a last resort, when there is no other available option for reducing immediate risk to the student, staff or other people. Restrictive practices are not used for punishment or as a disciplinary measure.

The department's Restrictive practices procedure is written with consideration for the protection of everyone's human rights, health, safety and welfare. There are six fundamental principles:

1. Regard to the human rights of those students
2. Safeguards students, staff and others from harm
3. Ensures transparency and accountability
4. Places importance on communication and consultation with parents and carers
5. Maximises the opportunity for positive outcomes, and
6. Aims to reduce or eliminate the use of restrictive practices.

Very rarely restrictive practices will be planned and staff will employ, when necessary, pre-arranged strategies and methods (of physical restraint/ mechanical restraint/ clinical holding) which are based upon behaviour risk assessment or clinical health need and are recorded in advance. The use of planned strategies will only be where there is foreseeable immediate risk consistent with the Restrictive practices procedure.

Seclusion will not be used as a planned response and will only be used in serious circumstances for managing an unforeseeable situation in an emergency. It will be used for the shortest time possible and in a safe area that presents no additional foreseeable risk to the student. In such emergencies, a staff member will observe the student at all times and seclusion will cease as soon as possible.

Following the use of any restrictive practice, a focused review will help staff to understand how they responded to the risk in any incident that involved the use of a restrictive practice. Staff will consider whether there are other options for managing a similar situation in the future. This strategy works well for reducing the use of restrictive practices.

All incidents of restrictive practices will be recorded and reported in line with departmental procedures.

Critical Incidents

It is important that all school staff have a consistent understanding of how to respond in emergencies that seriously endanger students or others. This consistency ensures that appropriate actions are taken to ensure that both students and staff are kept safe.

A critical incident is defined as an occurrence that is sudden, urgent, and usually unexpected, or an occasion requiring immediate action (e.g., in the community, on the road). The aim in these situations is to bring the behaviour of the student under rapid and safe control. It is not a time to try to punish or discipline the student; it is a crisis management period only.

Staff should follow the documented plan (Safety Plan) for any student involved in regular critical incidents, which should be saved and available for staff to review in OneSchool.

For unexpected critical incidents, staff should use basic defusing techniques:

1. Avoid escalating the problem behaviour: Avoid shouting, cornering the student, moving into the student's space, touching or grabbing the student, sudden responses, sarcasm, becoming defensive, communicating anger and frustration through body language.
2. Maintain calmness, respect and detachment: Model the behaviour you want students to adopt, stay calm and controlled, use a serious measured tone, choose your language carefully, avoid humiliating the student, be matter of fact and avoid responding emotionally.
3. Approach the student in a non-threatening manner: Move slowly and deliberately toward the problem situation, speak privately to the student/s where possible, speak calmly and respectfully, minimise body language, keep a reasonable distance, establish eye level position, be brief, stay with the agenda, acknowledge cooperation, withdraw if the situation escalates.
4. Follow through: If the student starts displaying the appropriate behaviour briefly acknowledge their choice and re-direct other students' attention towards their usual work/activity. If the student continues with the problem behaviour, then remind them of the expected school behaviour and identify consequences of continued unacceptable behaviour.
5. Debrief: At an appropriate time when there is low risk of re-escalation, help the student to identify the sequence of events that led to the unacceptable behaviour, pinpoint decision moments during the sequence of events, evaluate decisions made, and identify acceptable decision options for future situations
